I think this must be a scam to get you to register your name and other pertinent information for your future use to sell to other merchandising sites. I tried to enter and it won't let me and I also registered for the big tv and it took all my information and then when it asked for code from planters merchandise it wouldn't acknowledge the scan code. Now you have all my information and I couldn't even register for either sweepstake. I had better not start getting junk e-mails to my government work site. I would like an explanation for this. You can delete all my personal information from your list, after you reply to this comment.

Hi marcia,

First, this sweepstakes ended on October 31, 2008.
This might be why you can't enter anymore.

Now, if you want more information about your problem, you should try to contact Planters using this form (http://www.planters.com/contactus/contact.aspx?m=/contactus/cu_form1) because we (sweepstakesmag.com) won't be able to help you further because we do not administrate any of the sweepstakes listed here.

I discovered the Planters Kettle Roasted Peanuts around Christmas and have been loving them ever since until about a month ago.....the ones I have been buying (the last 3 times) have not been anything like the original peanuts. The last three bags just might as well come out of the can. They are not the larger peanuts and they are not the crunch peanuts! What happened????? I'm not spending extra money on these bags anymore. I'll save some money and buy regular peanuts from now on.
